Understanding Tolentino Obligations and Contracts

What Are Obligations and Contracts?

Obligations and contracts are closely related legal concepts that underpin many transactions in everyday life. - Obligation: A legal duty to do or not do something. It arises from law, contracts, quasi-contracts, delicts, or acts that produce legal effects. - Contract: A voluntary agreement between two or more parties that creates, modifies, or extinguishes obligations. While all contracts are obligations, not all obligations are contractual in nature. For instance, obligations arising from quasi-contracts or delicts are not contractual but are still legally enforceable.

Legal Foundations of Tolentino Obligations and Contracts

The principles governing obligations and contracts in the Philippines are primarily enshrined in the Civil Code of the Philippines, specifically Articles 1156 to 1304. Professor Hector S. Tolentino's interpretations and commentaries provide valuable insights into these provisions, emphasizing the importance of good faith, mutual consent, and lawful purpose.

Core Principles of Tolentino Obligations and Contracts

One of the fundamental principles is that agreements must be honored. Under Tolentino's teachings, contracts entered into in good faith are binding and enforceable.

4. Capacity of the Parties

- Parties must have the legal capacity to contract, meaning they are of legal age and sound mind. - Certain persons, such as minors or incapacitated individuals, have limited capacity.
